The president will not mention the eighty-pound bass in his message.

The inquest at Lincoln does not make any progress in fastening the chains on O. A. Carpenter.

There is one misfortune connected with the survivors of the Jeannette. They are all lecturing.

It is about time for the army of democratic candidates for the presidency to go into winter quarters.

So long as Slugger Sullivan holds such a place in the affections of the people of Boston, Governor Butler should not think himself the only great man of the age.

The Marquis of Landsdowne has been sworn in as governor-general of Canada. If he doesn't do better than Lorne, Canada will be unfortunate in having a governor.

Jay-Eye-See was unfortunate on Tuesday. He trotted two heats in 2:27¼ and 2:18¼, quite a falling off from 2:10¾. There will be no connubial kiss for Mrs. Case on that time.

The democrats carried Ohio last year by 19,000 majority, and this year by only 1,300. If the democrats meet with the same success next year, the republicans will carry the state by 17,760.

Governor Butler tells the people of Massachusetts that they must put up with him another year. The republicans of Massachusetts have made up their minds that one year of Butler is enough

Many prominent citizens of St. Louis have organized a law and order league, under the presidency of Gerard B. Allen, and raised an emergency fund of $3,000 with which to fight the gambling ring. St. Louis needs a league and a fund with which to protect what little morality it has.

The public will regret to hear a report coming from Washington through the Philadelphia Times, that President Arthur has grown so stout since he went to the Yellowstone that his last year's trousers do not fit him this fall. They will either have to be thrown away or sold a a sacrifice. This is the first misfortune the president has met with since his administration began.

The readers of tales of adventures will regret to hear that Captain Mayne Reid is dead. He was born in Ireland, and came to America in 1838. He reached New Orleans, and made excursions up the Red river, hunting and trading with the Indians, and afterward traveled through almost every state of the union. In 1845, upon the breaking out of the war between the United States and Mexico, Reid obtained a commission in the United States army. He was present at the siege and capture of Vera Cruz, and took an active part in various engagements; led the last charge of infantry at Cherabusco, and commanded the forlorn hope at Chepultepec, where he was shot down and reported to be killed. For his gallantry Captain Reid was honorably mentioned in the official dispatches and the last congress tardily put his name upon the pension roll, on account of the wound he had received at Chepultepec from which he never ceased to suffer. He received over $2,000 back pay with his final award of $15 a month. Since 1849 he has resided in London, where he died, on Sunday night, at the age of 65.

The final meeting of the Lincoln monument association took place at Springfield on Saturday. The grand monument is finished, and is the finest piece of monumental art on the continent. There is only one private monument in Europe that approaches it in beauty and costliness, and that is the Walter Scott monument, at Edinburgh. The Lincoln monument cost about $280,000, and has been fifteen years in building. There is on hand a sum of $8,000 which will probably be used in keeping the grounds in repair. The Chicago Journal makes a suggestion that has some point and value to it, as follows: "Mrs. Lincoln, s her death, left over $60,000 in government bonds. These went to Robert T Lincoln. Would it not be graceful fo him to set apart enough of them which, added to the above $8,000, would provide an annual revenue that would pay all the expenses of keeping up the monument and make monument and the grounds free to all the visitors, thus relieving the state of the odium cast upon it by those who regard the 25 cent fee as putting President Lincoln's tomb on a level with side-shows and museums."

The colored people of Washington held an indignation meeting the other night at which they denounced the recent decision of the supreme court. Robert G. Ingersoll, the Rev. Dr. Rankin, Judge Shellabarger, of Ohio, and Fred Douglass, made speeches and spoke in the bitterest terms of the decision. Mr. Ingersoll and Fred Douglass should understand that there can no possible good result to the colored people from an agitation of this question. The decision is final. It may be unworthy the supreme court. It is doubtless a misfortune to the colored people, especially to those who live and travel in the south; but indignation meetings will not soften the harshness of the decision nor build up the social privileges of the colored man. There seems to be an inclination among certain negroes to hold the republican party responsible for the decision simply because a republican court pronounced the opinion. But the republican party does not endorse the action of the supreme court, and the party journals, with very few exceptions, express the sentiment of the party. The democratic party will try to make all the capital it can out of the decision for the purpose of securing the negro vote. Demagogism will be resorted to that an alliance between the colored men and the democratic party may be effected. But the more intelligent of the colored vote can not be cajoled into the alliance.

Organization of a Citizens' League at St. Louis to Fight the Gambling Ring.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Several of the most prominent citizens of St. Louis, irrespective of party, met in secret council Monday night at the St. Louis Club, and a Law and Order League was there organized on the plan of the Philadelphia Citizens' Committee of One Hundred. Permanent officers were elected as follows: President, Gerard B. Allen; Vice-President, Carlos S. Greeley; Executive Committee, E. O. Stanard, John A. Noble, Edward Wilkerson, James J. Lyndley, W. H. Lee, James O. Broadhead and Ethan A. Hitchcock. An emergency fund of $3,000 was raised. The annual assessment of the league was fixed at $25. The object of the league is to secure good local government, fight corruption and political rings, and especially the gambling ring. Other Casualties.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 24.—About one o'clock yesterday afternoon the mining town of Plymouth, four miles from this city, was the scene of great excitement. The Excelsior gas squib factory exploded with terrific force. As soon as the explosion occurred those near by ran to the rescue of the operatives who were buried in the debris. Sympathetic hands were soon employed in removing as tenderly as possible the blackened and disfigured victims. Five dead bodies were found. One girl, Mattie James, aged sixteen, when found had nothing on but her corsets and shoes, her clothes having been literally torn to pieces. She was burned to a crisp. The others presented almost as sickening an appearance. As the injured all resided near by they were taken to their respective homes as quickly as possible and medical aid summoned. All the local physicians and one or two from a distance responded promptly to the call, and everything was done to ease the terrible sufferings of the unfortunate children. The scenes in their homes were heartrending. Mothers fainted and fathers trembled with grief as the black and disfigured forms of their loved ones were borne by sorrowing neighbors into the house. The news of the disaster spread rapidly, and mechanics, miners and men engaged in other employment quit work and hurried to the scene. In some of the houses it was difficult to get through the crowds that filled them. Women thronged the apartments where the sufferers were placed. The mother of Mamie Norris, aged sixteen, whose body is one mass of scarified flesh, and who can not live, remarked that her daughter said when she came home to dinner that just before she left the factory a little bird flew in at an open window and alighted on her shoulder. This the poor girl considered a premonition of death, for she said to her mother as she came into the house: "Mother, I am going to die to-day, I know I am." Miss Norris' home is one of apparent culture and refinement. A fine upright piano, a gift to Mamie, stood in the handsomely furnished parlor. She is an only daughter. She was conscious when seen by the correspondent, and was apparently resigned to her fate. Eight hands were employed in the factory, whose ages ranged from eleven to sixteen. Mattie James, whose body is a crisp and filled with powder, is about sixteen. She is unconscious and is wrapped in cotton. Her death is hourly expected. In another room lay the body of her brother, aged eleven, who, while terribly burned, is not thought to be hurt internally. The doctors think he will recover. About the children moved the forms of the gray-haired parents, trembling with grief.

Mary Quinn lay in her home on the hill, above the iron bridge, blackened and burned like the rest of her companions. She is twelve years old, and can not live.

Hattie Moss, aged fifteen, was blown into a creek which runs behind the factory, and, though her feet are badly burned, it is thought she will recover.

John Evans, fourteen years of age, will also recover, though burned severely.

James Steele, aged fourteen, is terribly mangled, and his life is despaired of.

Lizzie Edwards was lying bandaged from head to foot, but she said the physicians had hopes of her recovery.

No one appeared to know what caused the explosion. Mr. Smith, superintendent of the factory, had not returned from dinner, and could not explain how it happened. He said that besides a quantity of powder used for manufacturing the squibs, there was about a keg and a half of damaged powder scattered in five different kegs. Lizzie Edwards told her mother that they were burning wood in the stove, and that a spark flew out and ignited some straw on the floor which set fire to the powder. Mr. Smith could not estimate the loss sustained. The factory was located in an old shed that stood on Skeer's property, about one hundred feet from the road leading to Blindtown. It was started last April. It is expected that at least five of the injured children will die.

RAILWAY WRECKS.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—An accident occurred on the Louisville & Nashville Air Line. As the passenger train from Louisville was about six miles from East St. Louis it struck a broken rail. The engineer felt the shock and put on the brakes, and all the coaches passed over in safety except the last two passenger-cars and the sleeper, all of which were crowded. These two tipped over and were dragged along a short distance when the couplings broke.

The number of persons injured, as officially reported, is thirty-seven; but of these only about eleven are badly hurt.

Mr. Stern, a clothing merchant, of Philadelphia, received a severe scalp wound and a violent contusion on the left side of the face.

Mrs. Weidner, of Canton, Mo., has a very severe scalp wound, and her shoulder and knee hurt.

The scene and excitement were heartrending among the sixty men, women and children who occupied the coach and sleeper. The women shrieked and the wounded groaned, and blood flowed profusely from the numerous cuts the inmates received. It was a long time before the women could be quieted. The wounded were brought to East St. Louis when those who were not badly hurt went on to their destination. Others of the wounded were brought to this city.

Mr. Anthony received a frightful scalp wound. He cried: "Oh, my poor wife and children," when he became unconscious and delirous. Anthony's injuries are not so bad as at first reported. The physicians now express strong hopes of his recovery. He is Treasurer and General Manager of the Household Sewing Machine Company, of Providence, R. I.

It is now believed that none of the injured are fatally hurt.

Kansas City, Oct. 24.—A collision between a passenger train and a pay-car, special, occurred Monday evening on the Arkansas Branch of the Santa Fe Road, near Winfield. Jones Dunlap, a fireman, was dangerously injured. Both trains were badly damaged. The passengers escaped injury. The fault was with the train dispatchers.

Cincinnati, Oct. 24.—The Commercial Gazette's Crawfordsville (Ind.) special says the rear car of a passenger train on the Indianapolis, Bloomington & Western Road was thrown from the track Tuesday afternoon near Ralnstown, twenty-two miles east of here. Dr. J. C. Walker and W. C. Whitehead, of Indianapolis, were badly hurt and were left near the scene of the accident. J. L. Friedman, of Cincinnati, was brought here with a gash in his head over the eye. The company's physician went on west with eight through passengers that were hurt, but able to travel.

A HOTEL HORROR.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—The immense medicine factory, packing-house and office of Dr. J. H. McLean, corner of Broadway and Biddle streets, caught fire a little after eleven clock Tuesday night, and at midnight the structure was pretty nearly destroyed.

The loss on McLean's building is estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000. The large agricultural warehouse adjoining the rear of McLean's building, fronting on Collins street was also destroyed. The loss can not be ascertained. The burned property on Broadway south of McLean's is not valuable, and the loss will be light.

The building was formerly the Girard House, but a short time ago was bought by Dr. J. H. McLean, member of Congress, and converted into one of the most extensive patent medicine factories in the West.

The upper part of the building was the hotel. Forty-five people were in bed at the time. There was a great panic and scenes of terror.

One man was burned, Ed Stephens, of Gillespie, Ill. Four others are reported lost.

SLUGGERS AT WORK.

A Double Prize-Fight by Torchlight Near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 24.—Linden Grove, which is within the city limits, was the scene of a double prize-fight Monday night which came off under the glare of numerous torches.

In the first fight John Davis and George Taylor were contestants, and, after three rounds had been fought, Taylor was declared the victor.

The second battle was between Thomas Smith and John Hill, and at the end of the fifth round, when the eyes of each were nearly closed, Smith's second threw up the sponge and the fight was declared in favor of Hill.

The principals in both contests are millhands, and, although there was money at stake on each of the fights, they were brought about to settle up old feuds. After the affair was over all hands adjourned to a neighboring hostelry, where they indulged in a big spree, during which Taylor sat down to a piano, and, accompanying himself, sang a song called "Everything Is Done for the Best." The affair was carried out very quietly and the police knew nothing of it.

Lord Lansdowne Installed.

Quebec, Oct. 25.—The Marquis of Lansdowne has been sworn into office with considerable pomp and ceremony. The enthusiasm of the populace was very great. The Governor-General landed about ten o'clock and drove direct to the department buildings, escorted by his military staff. The official programme was strictly adhered to.

The Governor-General, in reply to the address of the Mayor and Council of Quebec, said: "I have listened with feelings of the utmost gratitude to the courteous and hospitable terms in which you have been pleased to welcome our arrival on Canadian soil. I thank you for the reception you have given me. I shall not easily forget it, and I trust that I may regard it as a happy augury."

What Joe Johnston Thinks of Mahone.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Ex-Senator Johnston, of Virginia, is in the city. When asked about the political situation in Virginia, Mr. Johnston said: "The fight is an active one, and, though the Democrats are working against odds, I think they will triumph. The good people of Virginia, irrespective of politics, are disgusted with Mahone and his machine, disreputable methods."

An Interesting Social Event.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 24.—The notorious Lilly Lafount, alias Lily Waters, alias Ada McBride, who, when arrested in Chicago, made quite a sensation by claiming to be the daughter of a Dublin banker, has given birth to twin boys in the penitentiary. Her husband, the notorious Max Lafount, was received at the prison last Saturday, and has been allowed to see the twins.

A Chicagoan Captures a Rich Prize.

New York, Oct. 24.—The upper ten received with complacency the announcement of the engagement of Hamilton McCormick, of Chicago, to Miss Sadie Jewett, daughter of Hugh J. A FEW TIMELY REMARKS!

Years ago we almost continually had traveling stores disposing of accumulated shelf worn stock. Of course we sold goods for "50 Cents on a dollar," and there were plenty of people anxious to secure the bargains?—Not the second time, however Well we accomplished our object, and then established a permanent store in one of the busiest towns of the state, the cash sales of which exceed those of any Clothing Store in Janesville. This outlet enables us to buy goods in such quantities as to command the very lowest prices; to take advantage of any large lot that a dealer may wish to close out at a bargain. and to keep our stock free from unsaleable goods that take up room and interest on money. Under these circumstances we can, WILL and DO sell goods cheaper than any house in this part of the state; we furnish a much larger assortment from which to make selections and are the only house in Janesville that ever dared to mark goods in plain figures and stick to the price every time, thereby extending a uniform treatment to all. The time of our salesmen is not spent in "wrestling" over the price, but in doing their utmost to please customers and money will be returned for any goods misrepresented by them. Our Fall and Winter stock is now ready for your inspection and you are perfectly safe in looking it over without fear of being importuned to buy or make an offer. The prices, in plain figures speak for themselves and we think talk pretty loud. Come and hear them talk. Respectfully,

M. C. SMITH & SON, One Price Square Dealing Clothiers.

The Mystery Surrounding Zora Burns' Lamentable Taking-Off Continually Deepening.

Notwithstanding the Employment of All Methods, No Conclusive Evidence is Found Against Carpenter.

Appearance of a Familiar Character in Cases of this Kind, the Ex-Policeman.

The "Important" Evidence He Claims to Possess—Testimony Before the Coroner's Jury.

Lifting the Veil.

THE MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

LINCOLN, Ill., Oct. 24.—Tuesday was unproductive of anything sensational, and the excitement noticed heretofore is subsiding. For six days the people of Lincoln and vicinity have been nervously expectant, until now the tension has relaxed and comparative prostration follows. The apparent hopelessness of the efforts to procure convincing proof against the only man suspected of the murder of Zora Burns has a tendency in Carpenter's favor. The wretch who cut Zora's throat, sending her to her God with her unborn baby almost on the eve of her wedding day, when she was attired in the dress to be her bridal costume, has scrupulously concealed the tracks which would definitely point to him. It seems now that all the evidence obtainable has been given, and the only thing to do is to depend upon chance to unearth further proof.

After the jury adjourned the talk on the street was resumed and the evidence discussed. Carpenter still refuses to talk to newspaper men, but admits to his friends that he is positive that he can show his innocence. His partner in the Hartsburg business, J. W. Martling, died yesterday, and his death had a depressing effect on Carpenter.

A new theory is now being spoken of, to the effect that the murder was for the purpose of robbery. It is presumed that Zora went to Carpenter's office and received a considerable sum of hush money, and that she confided this to some boon companion, who killed her to get the money. This theory, advanced by Carpenter's friends, is not borne out by the facts, so far as developed, as being reasonable.

The party who searched for the valise and hat, after spending all day in digging Kickapoo Creek, have returned unsuccessful. The search has not been given up, but will be resumed to-morrow. The water-closets at Carpenter's house and the business place were thoroughly examined by another party; also those of the neighboring houses, but nothing was found. The officers are working with desperation, because these things must be found, or the stopping place of the girl on Sunday. Without these links the chain is incomplete, and Carpenter will escape on his reputation. There seems at last a determined effort to find out where Zora Burns was on Saturday night and Sunday. To assist him in this the Sheriff has organized a posse of a hundred and fifty men, and every suspected house in the town will be visited and the inmates will be closely questioned.

Carpenter feels better. He has slept easier and his appetite is increasing. No one is allowed to see him, however, except his partner and his clerks. In spite of sympathy for his family, and a disposition to doubt his guilt, it is conceded that he is in a tight place. His counsel are positive that the evidence against him so far will never convict him, but all concede that he will be held to await the action of the Grand Jury. From action then to the close of a trial is a longer distance than the most prophetic can foresee.

There is a party of twenty-five men out now with grappling hooks and nets to drag Sugar Creek at the point where Carpenter crossed on his way to Hartsburg last Monday morning.

The result of the Coroner's investigation will not be reached until the opinion of Prof. Wheeler, of Chicago, on the nature of the stains on the lines and whip of Carpenter have been submitted. He wrote to the Coroner that he had not yet completed his examination, but thinks he will in three or four days. The preliminary examination of Carpenter will not be held until the Coroner has finished his investigation. The attorneys of Carpenter are in no hurry. They are waiting to see what the State has in the way of evidence.

A new witness has been discovered. His name is M. J. Lawler, and he is an ex-policeman of Lincoln. Lawler says that on Saturday night, between eight and nine o'clock, he saw a woman standing in the shade opposite Carpenter's office, nearly in front of a Chinese laundry. Her presence there at that hour and demeanor impressed him as being somewhat strange, and he accosted her with the question: "What's the matter?" She replied pertly: "None of your business." He walked away, leaving her standing there. She was evidently waiting for some one, he says, but he can not say positively if she had a sachel. Her description answers pretty closely to that of Zora Burns, and Lawler says he is of the opinion that the irascible stranger was the murdered girl. Little credence is given to Lawler's story, owing to the fact that during all the excitement since the murder, and notwithstanding the general cry has been: "Who saw Zora Burns since her interview with Carpenter?" he has never before thought of the circumstance of which he now speaks. He will be heard before the jury to-day.

The fifth day of the Coroner's investigation was opened with the examination of Fred Hudson, a young boy, who has attended to Orrin Carpenter's horse and cows since August 1. He testified that he fed Carpenter's horse on the eventful Sunday morning. Carpenter said nothing to witness about using his horse Sunday evening. He saw the horse and buggy in the shed on Monday morning, and hitched the horse about 6:30 Monday morning. That was the usual time for hitching. The horse was still standing there when witness left at seven o'clock. The Sunday spoken of was the day the murder occurred. The witness had not left town on account of this case, and had not been requested to leave. It was the custom of the witness to harness the horse and leave him in the shed to eat. The witness was asked if he had made an examination of the lines, with a view to showing there were blood-stains on them, but he had noticed nothing unusual. Carpenter said nothing to witness about leaving the horse hitched on Saturday or Sunday evening. It was his custom to leave the horse hitched in the evening. Witness never unhitched the horse at night. He put feed in the box and Carpenter put the horse in the stable. He did not see Carpenter on Sunday evening, but did see him at 6:30 on Monday morning before he had eaten breakfast.

David Reed, a carpenter, of Lincoln, testified as follows: "I live two hundred and fifty or three hundred feet from Orrin Carpenter's house. I saw him Monday morning, October 15, at eight o'clock." The witness then said he talked to him about doing some carpenter work, and his manner was excited and he talked loud. He had driven up at a brisk trot and drove away in the same manner. His conduct was commented upon by others in the vicinity. Carpenter said he was in a hurry and wanted to go to Hartsburg.

Robert Griffin, a laborer, who was at the pump near Carpenter's office about nine o'clock on the night of Sunday the 15th, testified that he saw a light in the private office. Witness had gone to the pump from the Nolte House for a drink. Several persons were with him. Mr. Long remarked that some one must be sleeping in the office. The witness fixed the time when he saw the light as Sunday, because he had on a clean shirt. His statement was corroborative of Carpenter's story that he was in his office Sunday night, and the State's Attorney endeavored to shake his testimony, but the witness remained firm. John Long, Thomas Reed and William Pegram corroborated the statement of Griffin regarding the light in Carpenter's office on the Sunday night of the murder. Pegram also testified to seeing the light there on Saturday night. The inquest then adjourned.

A CRASH AT CLEVELAND.

John M. Glidden, Secretary of the Republic Iron Company, Confesses Judgment for $111,000.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—Intense excitement was created in business circles yesterday by the announcement that John M. Glidden, Secretary of the Republic Iron Company, had confessed judgment on claims filed against him by the company amounting to $111,000. As security the company holds his stock, the market value of which is about a quarter of a million, but it is understood that considerable of this is pledged for other debts, and questions of priority of claim are likely to arise. Mr. Glidden stated to the Associated Press reporter that his failure is solely attributed to the shrinkage of values in legitimate iron business. His indebtedness to the company was for ore purchased on his own account and sold to other parties, and for transportation. He says that in a year and a half he has lost over three hundred thousand dollars from this cause. He will call a meeting of his creditors and ask an extension of time. Glidden's embarrassment will not affect the Republic Iron Company, whose capital stock is $2,500,000, and which owns, perhaps, the most valuable mining property in America, nor will it affect the firm of Glidden & Manning, which does strictly a commission business, and has no debt.

THE RAILWAY SERVICE.

A Proposed Change Which Will Give Greater Security to the Mails.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The committee consisting of Second Assistant Postmaster General Elmer, Railway Mail Superintendent Thompson, and Mr. Slater, Chief of the Railway Division, Second Assistant's office, recently appointed by the Postmaster-General to readjust the railway mail service of the country, has about completed its report. It is understood that the committee will recommend that the Post-office Department assume all expenses of delivering the mail to post-offices within forty rods of intermediate railroad stations to post-offices within one mile of terminal points.

At present this expense is borne by the railroad companies. If the recommendation said to be contemplated by the committee should be adopted by Congress and become law it will add, in the estimation of persons connected with the department, about one million dollars to the present cost of transporting the mails.

The reason assigned for this proposed change is greater security to the mails, as it will keep them at all times in possession of post-office employes.

"Fixing" the Senatorship.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—Congressmen Converse and Lefevre and ex-Congressman Leedom spent Sunday in Cincinnati, and the following day all went on the same train to Lebanon, which is the home of General Ward. It is the gossip of the evening that they have gone to confer with the General regarding his candidacy for the Senate. What the outcome of such a conference will be can not easily be imagined. Leedom has been favorable to Ward's candidacy, while Lefevre is for Pendleton and Converse is for himself. It is suggested that Leedom may have been induced to throw his influence for some other candidate, and the hope of the trio is to induce General Ward to withdraw from the race with the understanding that he shall have the support of the Ohio delegation for the Vice Presidency.

Pension Attorneys Suspended.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Pensions, the Secretary of the Interior has ordered the suspension of the following-named pension attorneys: J. R. Cilley, of Rockland, Me.; Frances Regester and William H. Dalton, of Philadelphia; Milo B. Stevens & Co., of Cleveland, Washington, Detroit and Chicago; William H. Wells & Co., of Washington, D. C., and James B. Russell & Co., of Trenton, N. J. The Commissioner recommended some of the above-named persons to be disbarred. The suspension, however, is preliminary to disbarment, if the charges are proven. The recommendations of Commissioner Dudley for suspension or disbarment are based upon the general charge of improper practices before the Pension Office.

Ida Probably Prevaricates.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 24.—Ida Kent, whose disappearance from this city aroused the people to search, was brought back from Porter Station by a policeman. She states that she was decoyed from the school-room to a wagon, chloroformed, covered with a buffalo robe and driven to the woods, where she was tied to a tree and left until a farmer released her.

Repudiating Butler.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—The "old line" Democrats of Massachusetts have issued an address repudiating General Butler and invoking Democratic support for the Republican candidate for Governor. It is stated that S. A. B. Abbott declines to run for Lieutenant-Governor on Butler's ticket.

Sent to the Penitentiary for Life.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 24.—Underhill and Washington, two negroes, just released from State's Prison at Joliet, Ill., pleaded guilty here to the murder of Policeman O'Connell in June, 1881, and were sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

Nearer to Nature.

Nature has made her laws with us which we must obey or suffer the penalty. This penalty is often lung or throat trouble, which leads on to consumption. Every man believes consumption incurable. People have been educated to this belief, which is proven incorrect by Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure which is nature's great helpmate, and it cures consumption and all throat and lung diseases speedily and permanently. Trial bottles free, of Stearns & Baker.

MR. THURMAN.

Will He Be a Candidate Before the Democratic National Convention?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A prominent Ohio Democrat is authority for the statement that Allen G. Thurman, the Buckeye Statesman, is sure to come before the Democratic National Convention as a Presidential candidate. "And," says the above-mentioned gentleman, "his nomination is certain him. Mr. Bayard comes from too small a State, and has failed too many times. Cleveland is not big enough. The Catholics do not like McDonald, and Thurman can carry Ohio next fall more easily than Hoadly did this. Thurman is not in the Senatorial race, mark that. He will not become entangled in the faction fights in Ohio. He will leave that to Pendleton and McLean."

The very near relation of this Democrat to Mr. Thurman has created the impression that Allen G. Thurman cherishes Presidential aspirations. He is here in attendance upon the Supreme Court. He looks more vigorous than he did when he left the Senate. He has recovered from his accident—a broken arm—and is in as good health as most men of his years. It is very possible that Mr. Thurman, one of the most vigorous advocates of the Pacific Railroad funding act, may give other Democratic aspirants trouble in the National Convention.

Sexton and Slosson.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The match for the billiard championship between Slosson and Sexton begins this evening at Central Music Hall, and, as nearly all the seats are sold, the attendance will be large. In the pool rooms last evening Slosson had the call at evens, offers as high as $40 being accepted, and the selling being fair. In the Paris Mutuals, also, Slosson was favorite at evens. Great interest centers in the match, for both players are in fine practice and will do their level best to win.

Porter Indicted for Walsh's Murder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—An indictment has been found by the Grand Jury against William Porter, the burglar who was suspected of having killed John Walsh, in the Walsh-Irving imbroglio at "Shang" Draper's saloon recently. Porter has left the city and it is said he was not to be found in New York five hours after the time when he was discharged by the Coroner.

Bandits Given a Warm Reception.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 24.—At Tlacotepec, State of Puba, two days ago a party of bandits seized Ignacia Garcia Veyran, an old capitalists, and tried to carry him off. His servants came to his assistance and killed two of the bandits and wounded others. The latter fled, first killing Veyran.

IN A CHINESE JOSS HOUSE.

The Rich Ornamentation---An Ever-Whirling Cage --- A Festival and Procession.

[San Francisco Cor. Philadelphia Times.]

Wandering about the Chinese quarter, now and then one has the feeling of being in some new planet. Everything is un-American. Even the foulness of modern decorators for Chinese and Japanese ornamentation does not prepare one for the curious and extraordinary furniture and appointments of the Chinese restaurants. In their moral pictures their artists appear to have looked upon the forms of nature with preternatural eyes. Now and then, in small, ill-ventilated rooms, one comes upon hand-work ornaments which surpass in felicity the finest achievements of European skill in the same direction. Some of the richest metal and panel work I have ever seen is in the Joss house. There is another Joss house, apparently for the very poor, whose decorations are fantastic to a degree. This seems to have been improvised under some priestly order. During the past week, in front of the door stand two gigantic figures, in relief, suggestive of some Chinese Gog or Magog, their Gog comprising every color of the rainbow. In the ground room was an ever-whirling cage, suspended, containing all manner of incomprehensible little objects, and on the walls pictures conveying some story of a hero going through many ordeals, which seem to be of absorbing interest to the crowd. There were three stories to the house, each got up in a different way. One of these was called the temple. There was an altar in one of these rooms, on which was a bronze cauldron, which Chinamen every now and then stirred and from which issued a steam of a peculiar odor.

In the chief temple there was a large figure of the Joss, in whom I could recognize some far-off corruption of Buddha; on the altar before him was a large, round dish with compartments, each of which contained candies of a different shape and color. In this temple the Chinese seemed to idle around; no hat was removed, and there was nothing in their faces or behavior which indicated any reverence or solemnity. Having found a Chinaman who understood a little English he told me that it was a three-day festival or mission.

At the end of the three days, in the evening, I went around that way, and at midnight witnessed a strange Joss procession. The street for 200 yards was fringed with fire, apparently from little bundles of tow, at which hundreds of Chinese were lighting little candles, much in the same way as at the festival of Moonli, which closes the carnival at Rome. Between these multitudes marched a procession, with those unearthly mechanical noises which pass among them for music. Midway in the procession were six or seven men in red garb, who seemed to be priests, and behind these, uplifted on the shoulders of four men, was a tall dummy, resembling a ghostly clown, white and variegated, with uplifted arms, who was declared to be the Joss.

I would have liked very much to interview that gorgeous dummy, but the occasion was unfavorable, and, probably, I shall learn more about him among the Buddhists of Ceylon than I could from these Chinamen of California.

The whole affair was weird, savage, and I found it rather depressing. On inquiring the meaning of it I was told that it was for the sake of their dead. However useful it may be for ghosts, it is rather ghastly for the living.

A Young Man's Case.

Mr. S. S. Hodgen, Jr., of No. 117 Park street Lewiston, Me., relates the following personal narrative, May 14, 1883: "About fifteen months since I had a severe attack of typhoid fever, was very lame, and confined to my bed for eleven weeks, and when the fever left me I was in a very debilitated condition. My back and loins seemed to have no strength, and I had no vitality or appetite. I tried various kinds of medicine recommended by my friends, but found they did not improve my condition. I was induced to try Hunt's Remedy, which has been used with such great success here in Lewiston that it has a very enviable reputation of being a most reliable medicine. I purchased one bottle, and can date my improved health from the time I commenced using it, and my progress continued very rapidly; I gained in strength, and experienced less pain in my back, my appetite increased, and after using three (3) bottles my pains were all gone, and my health entirely restored, and I can most heartily recommend Hunt's Remedy to any who may need a true remedy for debility, kidney or urinary troubles."

A Good Mechanic.

Mr. L. J. Jones, of No. 10 Charles street, Portland, Me., writes us these convincing facts, May 11, 1883:

"I have for several years been troubled with liver complaint and indigestion, and have suffered at times terrible distress, and have tried many different cures, so called, that have been recommended from time to time. I one day noticed in one of our papers the testimonial of a person that had used Hunt's Remedy and been cured of diseases similar to mine. I purchased a bottle of one of our drug stores in Portland, and before I had used the first bottle found that I was improving beyond my expectation; have used in all six bottles, and I have no trouble from indigestion, no distress or pain in my back as I formerly had; and since I have been cured my wife has used it for kidney trouble, and it has cured her. We can both say that Hunt's Remedy is a blessing to any that are troubled with kidney or liver diseases, or indigestion. We gladly recommend it to our friends or to any sufferers from liver or kidney disease, and you can use this letter as you may choose for the best interest of suffering humanity."

Bill Arp on Office-Seekers.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

One time there was an old tramp going around pursuing the country and fooling the people out of a living, and one day he got the odor of a good dinner as he neared a farmhouse, and so he pretended he was a clock-tinker, and the unsuspecting old farmer got him to work on his clock for his dinner. Well, he got his dinner first, and then told the old man to stand up in front of the clock and watch the swing of the pendulum, and every time it went backwards and forwards to keep time with his hand and say: "Here she goes and there she goes," while he (the tramp) would stand back at the door and get the beat of it by his ear, and so tell whether it was going too fast or too slow. So the old man stood up and began his little song: "Here she goes and there she goes; here she goes and there she goes," and he kept it up about ten minutes, and on looking around, he found the tramp was gone. These office-seekers scheme and plot and toot first one horn and then another and bob up serenely like a kildeer on a clod of dirt until they get an office, and about the time they get fixed in it good, and have their feet on the banisters, and a pipe in their mouth, a change has to be made and over they go. Here she goes and there she goes.

Bathing in Salt Lake.

[Phil Robinson in Harper's Magazine.]

In the water of Salt Lake a bather can lie on the surface of the water without any exertion whatever, or by passing a towel under his knees and holding the two ends he can remain in any depth of water kneeling, with his head and shoulders out of water, or by shifting it under the sole of the feet he can sit on the water. The one exertion, in fact, is to keep one's balance; none whatever is required to keep afloat. The only danger, therefore, arises from choking by accidentally swallowing some of the water, for the strength of the brine is so intense that the muscles of the throat are convulsed, and strangulation ensues. All the same, I have myself dived several times into Salt Lake, and have survived.

The Grindstone Universal.

J. E. Mitchell, in The Journal, of the Franklin institute, says about the grindstone: All nations use it, and it is perhaps with all the one piece of mechanism that bears the same form and is the same in principle. More or less directly it takes part in the greatest modern material enterprises; it has, no doubt, assisted to fashion the implements of many of the lost arts, and is still needed in many of the requirements of the arts of the present day.

A Clergyman's Testimony.

W. E. Gifford, pastor M. E. church Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with dyspepsia in its worst form until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

A Newsboy's Trick.

[Boston Budget.]

Baize went out of the Park theatre the other night between the acts. It is not necessary to say at this time what he went for. All that the reader need know is, that in coming back he met a little boy, with a bundle of papers under his arm, crying bitterly. "What's the matter, sonny?" said Baize, who was full of the milk of human kindness, combined, perhaps, with a liquid of a more substantial character. "I'm stuck," answered the boy, "and my father will lick me when I go home if I do not sell all of my papers. "Too bad, too bad," replied Baize, sympathetically; "what will you take for the whole lot?" "Twenty-five cents," said the boy, drying his eyes and wiping his nose on the sleeve of his shirt. "All right," rejoined the benevolent man; "give them to me." Baize took the papers and threw them into the street, and the boy took the quarter and disappeared suddenly round the corner. An hour later, when Baize was leaving the playhouse with Mrs. Baize he saw that identical newsboy with those identical newspapers, whining: "Please buy a paper, mister? I'm stuck." "So am I," said Baize.

What Is Slang?

[Boston Courier.]

In its best sense slang is an attempt to get at the truth by the shorter routes. It may not always do this decorously, but, none the less, it generally manages to get there. Slang is the sworn enemy of circumlocution and periphrasis. It believes that in literature, as in geometry, a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. As it almost invariably originates among uneducated people this is quite natural. It is a stripping away of the dry husks of things to get the quicklier at the kernel. It is an unconscious striving to attain to the actualities and essences of things—it is, in its lowly, common way, a blind reacher after what Mr. Carlyle topfoftily calls the "eternal veracities."

A Senator's Helpmate.

[Boston Budget.]

Mrs. Senator Logan is a model congressman's wife. She is a fine, matronly looking woman, with snow-white hair, clear hazel eyes, the merry laugh of a school-girl, and the tender kindliness of a mother. Magnetic in manner, she exercises a potent influence over the senator, and does much to increase his personal popularity. She writes his letters, corrects the proof of his speeches, franks his documents, and distributes his garden seeds with rare judgment.

Yellow, Red and Black.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

The hair is the least destructible part of our bodies. In Egypt it has been known to survive 4,000 years, and bids fair to outlive the pyramids. There are but three coloring pigments belonging to it—yellow, red and black, and the mixture of these produces all the known shades.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER,

Has made Chronic Diseases [of the]

Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talents and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thoroughly in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Bowles, clerk of the board of education, received notice this morning from Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., the publishers of the new series of readers adopted for our city schools, that the Swinton fifth readers would be shipped to our dealers to-day, and that they would probably be ready to make the exchange to-morrow.

—The following is from the Free Press, of Beloit:

Congressman Winans has until next May in which to make an appointment to the naval academy at Annapolis. Now let some Beloit lad who has rode the bounding billows of Rock river and recklessly dared the swelling tides of the raging Turtle until he is enamored of a life on the ocean wave and longs for a couch that shall be rocked on the billows of the deep, pitch in and win his heart's desire. Ahem!

—Messrs. F. C. Cook & Co. have just received another large invoice of fine American clocks and bronzes, these with their assortment of French clocks which they lately imported are certainly the finest line of such goods ever shown in Janesville. —Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Nolan, of Pierre, Dakota, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, called here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Nolan's father, the late Alderman E. D. Murdock. She and her husband started from Pierre on Monday morning, and of course did not learn the sad news of Mr. Murdock's death. At Madison Mr. Nolan was told of the sad event but did not inform his wife until reaching Afton as above.

When she arrived she partly lost her mind caused by over-exertion and ill-health, and yesterday it was thought best to take her to the state hospital at Madison. The necessary papers were obtained, and Mrs. Farnham was at once taken to the hospital. The derangement is supposed to be only temporary. Mr. Farnham is a Methodist minister, and last year was stationed at Oconomowoc, and had been sent to Sun Prairie this year.

Mr. Clark's friends in Beloit watch his movements in the race with great interest.—Beloit Free Press, of Monday. By reference to the score of the race so far, "Mr. Clark's friends in Beloit" had better call their man off, or perhaps he will have to make an affidavit that he was in the contest. Mr. Free Press, you need a "scooner" man when you come to riding on wheels. You ought not put out your "bantams" in a bevy of regular thorough-breds. Call him home. At twelve o'clock last night the score, in miles, stood as follows: Prince, 333; Morgan, 330; Woodside, 307; Shock, 291; Dowse, 284; Clark, 247. Where will the Beloit man be by Saturday night? eh!

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 49 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 43 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 35 and 61 degrees above zero.

There is a constant effort on the part of that grim monster "Disease" to become master of mortal man. Only a careful observance of natural laws can render his efforts unavailing. Yet too often injudicious excesses, sudden changes, too great exposure, improper food or other abuses of nature open the gateway and disease gains a victory. Sometimes its mastery is so complete that nature of herself can never effect a disledgement. In such instances reinforce nature with a judicious use of Brown's Iron Bitters and we guarantee, in a short time, all disease will be vanished.

Mr. Oley Groh, Sheboygan, Wis. says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of dizziness and debility."

Dr. A. Page, Rushmore, O., says: "I have prescribed Brown's Iron Bitters in several instances, and in each case obtained good results."

The jury took the case just before noon and retired The first ballot stood eleven for conviction and one against; and the contest continued until four o'clock. The substance of the cases already been given.

Three of the young men received a sentence to pay a fine of one hundred dollars. The rest will receive their sentence this morning, without doubt.

It is understood that Mr. R. M. Bashford, attorney for defendants, has asked for an arrest of judgment.

Another of the parties was sentenced to state prison 10 years.—Madison Democrat.

This seedy association offered a prize of one year's dues to the matron presenting the best chicken pie at this meeting. Whoop! won't this make a cackling in the grangers hen coops and won't Elder Wells swell up and wish he was still larger ere he gets done passing judgment on three dozen as good pies as yellow-legged chicks were ever converted into.
